

Little Boss Baby Executive Nylon Jacket

Product Overview

Introduce your little one to the world of executive style with our adorable Baby Executive Nylon Jacket. Designed for newborns and infants aged 0-12 months, this charming pink jacket is perfect for adding a touch of playful sophistication to everyday outings, family gatherings, or even a mini photoshoot. Its lightweight design makes it suitable for transitional weather, offering a stylish layer without overheating.

Material & Fabric Composition

Crafted from 100% recycled nylon, this jacket boasts a smooth, water-resistant finish with a subtle sheen. The fabric has a light and airy feel, ideal for delicate baby skin, and a fabric weight of 80 GSM. The interior is lined with a soft, breathable 100% organic cotton jersey, ensuring maximum comfort against the skin.

Sustainability & Origin

This Little Boss Baby Executive Nylon Jacket is thoughtfully manufactured in Portugal, adhering to high European labor and environmental standards. The jacket proudly carries the Global Recycled Standard (GRS) certification for its 100% recycled nylon outer shell, demonstrating our commitment to circularity. The organic cotton lining is GOTS certified, ensuring it's free from harmful chemicals and produced with environmentally and socially responsible methods. Our goal is to minimize our carbon footprint by sourcing materials responsibly and optimizing production processes.

Style Notes

This executive-inspired jacket is a versatile piece for your little one's wardrobe. Pair it with a crisp white organic cotton onesie and tiny denim jeans for a smart-casual look perfect for a family brunch. For a more playful ensemble, layer it over a floral dress or a striped romper and finish with soft-soled sneakers. It's an ideal outer layer for spring and early autumn days, providing just the right amount of warmth and a pop of delightful pink.
