

Apex Performance Training Pants

Product Overview

Designed for the modern athlete, the Apex Performance Training Pants offer unparalleled comfort and functionality for intense workouts, training sessions, and active recovery. With a sleek silhouette and innovative storage, these pants are engineered to support men who demand both performance and practicality from their sportswear, making them ideal for all-season training.

Material & Fabric Composition

Crafted from a high-performance blend, these training pants feature 88% Recycled Polyester and 12% Elastane. The fabric boasts a substantial 280 GSM, providing excellent durability and support without sacrificing flexibility. Its smooth, interlock knit construction offers a soft handfeel against the skin, while its moisture-wicking properties ensure you stay dry and comfortable during peak activity.

Care Instructions

To maintain the integrity and performance of your Apex Training Pants, machine wash cold with like colors (max 30 degC). Do not bleach. Tumble dry low or hang dry to preserve elasticity and fabric structure. Iron on low heat if necessary, avoiding direct contact with any printed logos. Do not dry clean.

Sustainability & Origin

These training pants are proudly manufactured in Vietnam, a region renowned for its expertise in high-quality sportswear production. The use of 88% Recycled Polyester is certified by the Global Recycled Standard (GRS), affirming our commitment to circularity and reducing textile waste. Our production facility adheres to strict environmental and social standards, aiming to minimize the product's carbon footprint through efficient manufacturing processes and responsible sourcing.

Style Notes

These versatile training pants pair effortlessly with a breathable performance tee and your favorite running shoes for an impactful gym look. For a more relaxed, post-workout vibe, layer with an oversized hoodie and casual trainers. Their sleek design also makes them suitable for active commutes or light outdoor activities. Ideal for spring through autumn training, offering comfort and style in various conditions.
